Securing Success...

From the Deputy Headmaster...

I don't normally start a newsletter article with a focus on the staff, but this week I am compelled to do so. A week-long camp with close to 200 students aged 12-16 presents many opportunities for connection, laughter, adventure, memory making and community building. But with it comes challenge. I was able to visit the Somerset camp venue overnight on Tuesday and throughout most of Wednesday and I was struck by the enormous hours and the prolonged effort our high school teachers were putting in to ensure the camp was a success.

As I arrived late on Tuesday evening, I had driven through increasingly heavy rain. There, perched on the river flats were rows of tents with intermittent flash lights from within. The students were hunkered down for the night, hoping to stay dry (or get dry) and there, after an already 14 hour day, were two OAGS teachers helping to fix a tent in the steady rain. With a less than savoury forecast for the rest of the week, this would be a scene that would play out over and over again.

Indeed, on this occasion, that 14 hour day turned into a 19 hour one before those teachers settled into their own soggy tent knowing that a grey dawn was only hours away.

There is no overtime, there is no knock-off time, there is simply 'camp time'. To all the teachers who invested so much this week, I say thank you and well done. For every blister that was lanced, torch that was fixed, canoe that was emptied, hat that was salvaged, complaint that was heard, mattress that was inflated, swag that was dried, soggy sneakers that were aired, tears that were dried, laughter that was heard, km that was trudged, sleep that was interrupted, leech that was salted and sacrifice that was made and went unnoticed - I hope you enjoy a weekend of warm showers, hot meals and familiar beds. These students are so blessed to have you.

And what of the students of Orange Anglican Grammar School? By mid morning Wednesday the rain was setting back in. The year 10 group I was with were preparing lunch under a makeshift shelter in order to get their energy levels up before their 10km canoe trip down river to their new campsite. Our group guide came up to me and told me how in the previous week he had nearly quit. After spending only 1 night with a 'Sydney School' he had resolved to walk away from his job as a guide at the camp. He spoke to me of vile language and unsafe behaviour which meant he couldn't take that group abseiling or rock climbing as he couldn't be sure they would follow or respect his instructions. He then went on to say that since having the OAGS group he not only had 'the best job in the world' but that he had rarely seen a group of students so respectful, resourceful and reliable in what were increasingly trying conditions. These comments didn't surprise me in the slightest, in fact as he was speaking we were interrupted by two of our students insisting we get our lunch before they made theirs! To the students of OAGS, you stood tall this week and I am indelibly proud of you. Some of the memories you made in camp week 2021 will, I promise you, stay with you for life.

Back onsite I was thrilled to be a part of the Stage 3 High School experience week. As a science teacher myself I took 10 lessons with our eager year 5 and 6 students as we tested both the breaking strain and thermal properties of alpaca wool. This was only part of a week long project based learning opportunity which included intensive sessions of Mathematics, Art, English, Ag, Tech and HSIE as students worked hard to not only research the Alpaca industry, but present their findings by Friday to an eager audience of parents and fellow students. Well done to all our budding High School students, your work was of an outstanding quality this week.

Our eldest students in Yr 11 and 12 completed their half-yearly exam week (yr 12) and 'Securing Success' programme (yr 11). This week included expert sessions on essay writing skills, a CSU open day visit, compulsory HSC preparation sessions and some course work masterclasses. Well done to all our seniors and good luck to year 12 as you receive your marks and feedback from your first official examination period this year.

What a week. For those of you who are welcoming home a student from yr 7-10 camp I trust you enjoy the reunion with your children. It may well be a quiet evening, unless of course they slept the entire way home on the bus! May God bless you this weekend and in the final two weeks of term as we lead up toward Easter.

Year 12 University Roadshow

As students draw near to the end of their Secondary School education, it can be challenging for them to identify the 'best' post school opportunity. Study at university is one pathway that we want to expose our students to as they consider what vocation is right for them.

With this in mind, our Year 12 students attended a University Roadshow on Wednesday the 3rd of March. Presenters from a variety of institutions, including University of Newcastle, University of New England and Charles Sturt University spoke to students on a variety of topics. The application process, role of the University Admissions Centre, and alternative pathways into the preferred course were discussed. Scholarship opportunities and different ways of managing the costs associated with tertiary study were also shared.

At the end of the presentation it was encouraging to see our students take the opportunity to speak one to one with the representatives from each of the universities present. We look forward to assisting our students as they decide what they will be doing in 2022 and beyond.

Oags Digital Thumbprint Visit

In this digital age it is crucial that our students learn safe and protective behaviours when they are online. Stage 3 were involved in a very informative and interactive session in Week 6 that helped them to better understand the importance of this. We encourage you to chat more with your child about what they learned. To help you, two students have written this report to inform you of what they learned:

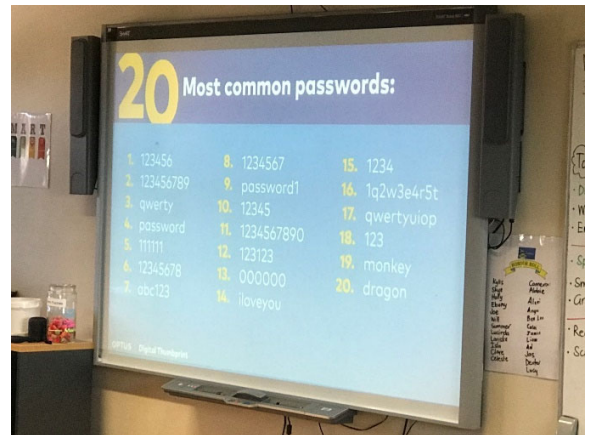

Last week Stage 3 enjoyed a visit from OPTUS who talked to us about something called a 'Digital Thumbprint'. They told us about a website to test how strong your password is. They gave us ways to create a strong password, like making a well known rhyme or song into passwords using numbers, capital letters, lower case letters, and symbols. We all tested our own passwords and found some were strong and some were extremely weak.

We then learned about a girl called Alisha who was sharing information on a public social media account. We learned that sharing personal information in those kinds of places can be dangerous. We also learned about a boy called Jack who was playing Fortnite and shared personal information with someone he didn't know in real life but had got to know through the game. This was also very dangerous and we learned that we should never be 'friends' online with people you don't know in person.

We all thought the day was beneficial because we learned how to be safe online. We are online so much it is a really important thing to know.

Infants at the Theatre

On Tuesday the 2nd of March, Kindergarten and Stage 1 got onto a bus and went to the Orange Civic Theatre to watch a performance of 'The Very Hungry Caterpillar'. Based on the popular children's books by Eric Carle, the stories were brought to life with a menagerie of seventy-five colourful puppets. Jonathan Rockefeller, director, kept the students engaged throughout the whole show, using a range of clever techniques. The students identified their favourite part as:

- Everything - Emilia Hunter
- When the caterpillar turned into a fat caterpillar - Nate Andreassen

- The bright colours on stage - Evelyn Gazi
- Just watching the show on stage - Lilliana Kelly
- When they used a small and a big caterpillar - Clancy Wilson
- The brown bear looked really cool - Indigo Thompson
- The ducks - Freddie Jones

The performance was full of light, sound, and action, ensuring that every student had an enjoyable and educational time. Kindergarten and Stage 1 are looking forward to their next performance.

Stage 1 Dinosaur Excursion

With the easing of restrictions, excursions out of Orange can now occur. On Friday the 5th of March, Stage 1 went to Bathurst to explore living and not-so-living things. In Science, Stage 1 has been looking at how paleontologists learn things about dinosaurs by comparing them to modern living animals. While in Bathurst, Stage 1 students visited the Bathurst Fossil and Mineral Museum, where they learnt more about dinosaurs, and how different minerals are used in everyday products. Students also had fun exploring Machattie Park through a 'living things' scavenger hunt. Students needed to find different living things in the park and draw an annotated diagram. While finding living things, they also had a number of photo challenges. It was an enjoyable day for all, but the adults learnt very quickly to bring earplugs for the bus trip next time.

Some of the highlights for the students were:

- All of the crystals - Hudson Thomas
- The fossils - Louis Kingsley-Miller
- The activities in the park - Angela Gleeson
- Seeing all the flying-foxes in the trees - Hannah Wotton
- Seeing the big T-Rex - Oscar Horstman Barbosa
- Seeing a big tiger tooth - Yorke Watson
- The raptor bones - Morne Olivier

Early Learning

In this newsletter, I thought I would explore why mathematical experiences that deepen your child's understanding of mathematical concepts are important. Mathematics encourages children to think creatively, critically and logically which helps them reason, solve problems and communicate their understanding of maths. Mathematics is all around us, in our homes, in our community and in the wider world. We are regularly sharing with you the importance of reading with your child, equally important is having that same passion or investment in exploring mathematics. Like in your child's learning to read journey, you are a significant partner in your child's mathematical journey. When you find ways to engage your child with thinking and talking about mathematics you are providing them an opportunity to experiment with and deepen their understanding of mathematics.

Having a positive attitude to mathematical concepts and making the most of real world experiences will enrich your child's understanding and love of mathematics.

In Transition and Kindergarten, students continually explore mathematical concepts. Currently Transition students are strengthening their number skills with one to one counting, this means that the children point to each object as they count. This is an important skill to develop, as children are learning to count groups of objects and represent numbers, if they don't touch or point to each object, they sometimes miss an object or count the same object multiple times. In Kindergarten, students have recently been exploring friends to 10. Having a strong understanding of friends to ten, gives students speed and accuracy with manipulating numbers to 10, which provides a strong foundation for working with both larger and smaller numbers in the future.

Beyond counting, sharing and making groups of everyday objects, you may like to try playing number I Spy. 'I spy something in this room that there are three of.' If you would like other ideas on how to engage your child with mathematics at home or in our community please don't hesitate to contact me sally.drury@oags.nsw.edu.au

Recruit Induction 6/7March.

Feedback from this activity (students and parents) has been extremely positive – who wouldn't like to camp overnight at school and let mum & dad have a free night? We had 38 recruits attend plus 10 rank and 7 adults support the activity. The Recruits were issued their uniforms and gear, completed mandatory governance training, received lessons on campcraft plus setting up their own campsite before sleeping in hutchies or tents under the Chestnut trees. The highlight for many was the joy of eating ration packs (instant noodles, instant potato and the steak bars got the thumbs up) - supplemented by hot dogs for dinner plus egg and bacon sandwiches at breakfast. Roving sentries in small groups throughout the night was made more pleasant with hot milo and biscuits and a chance to learn and practice "army speak" over the radios plus see a command post in operation.

Numbers. Recruitment and retention have been very successful and we now have over 70 cadets (more than 20 over our forecasted number). My intention is to recruit again in August after I have gained approval from Canberra to raise our authorised ceiling.

Rank Training. Most of the rank will travel with staff to Young on 21 March to complete the Module 2 (Practical) training and assessment for Corporal and Sergeant. It will be a long day departing at 5.30am and not returning till 8.30pm.

Dates for Diaries

5&12 Apr	Holidays - No Cadet Parade
19/4	Cadets resumes – Anzac Day preparation
25/4	Anzac Day support

Adult helpers - we continue to seek more adults to assist us with the program. Now that we have over 70 cadets there is an increased requirement for assistance to help us deliver safe, fun and interesting training every Monday. Help can range from a BBQ duty once per term or more regular attendance...whatever your availability we would WELCOME your help. No military or other experience necessary. Why not come and share in what your son/daughter is doing? Just speak to any adult during the Monday parade.

CHESS

2021 NSW Secondary Schools (Western Region) Knockout Competition. 2020 seemed very surreal with players concentrating on computer screens trying to anticipate the moves on the other side instead of studying the faces of the opponent. Last Friday we hosted Molong Central School onsite which was a most welcome change to play face to face again. OAGS was represented by Scott McGoldrick, Rhys Johnston, Archie Casey and Clay Perkins supported by Bec Kemp and Mykala Hazelton as we started the campaign to reclaim the premiership (held in 2019 after finishing Runners Up in 2020). Our players were well prepared and managed a clean sweep (4wins).

Primary Competition – now that COVID restrictions and complications are lifting, the NSW Primary schools competition can resume. We eagerly await details of proposed dates and locations in Term 2.

Holiday Competition - Don't forget to support/enter the local competition during the April holiday period details in the last (Week 6) newsletter.

CSU Explore Day

People often ask me...

"What do you want to do after school?"

This is a question I find very daunting, especially when there are so many careers and post-school pathways to choose from. It was therefore an excellent opportunity for Year 11 and 12 students at OAGS to have the opportunity to explore one of these post-school options this week.

On Wednesday the 17th of March, the entire Year 11 and 12 cohort travelled to the Orange CSU Campus to explore their facilities and potential post-school undergraduate degrees. The day was split up into two sessions where students had the privilege of learning about, as well as undertaking practical activities in, a range of study areas including physiotherapy, medicine, dentistry, health and medical science and pharmacy. Students also had the opportunity to explore the CSU Campus, and learn about university life, including accommodation, scholarships, bridging courses and much more.

I attended the medicine and dentistry sessions and was really inspired by hearing the journeys of a range of industry professionals, as well as by participating in hands-on lessons. I practiced CPR on dummies, examined synthetic human and animal skulls, and learned how to use modern medical technologies, such as the LUCAS device (an automatic CPR machine) and defibrillators. These practical activities gave me encouragement to pursue post-school studies and really inspired me as to what my future career could look like.

Overall the day was a huge success, full of fun and informative activities which inspired and motivated the senior secondary students to strive for greatness in and outside the classroom, as well as giving them a glimpse into what university life entails. We are all truly grateful for this opportunity and will definitely seek to utilise the information we learnt.

OAGS Canteen

Stage 3 students play a very important role in making sure that the canteen runs smoothly during the breaks. We aim to get the lunch orders and then over the counter food out as quickly as we can and couldn't do it without the Crew. Let's get to know some of our Canteen Crew. We asked the Stage 3 helpers some questions and here are some of their answers:

What is your favourite food ever?

Mac and Cheese; Vanilla Fudge; Beef Rendang; Pizza; Too many to choose from!

What is your favourite canteen food item?

Unanimously PIZZA!!!!

What is your favourite thing about helping in the canteen?

Watching the huge line slowly disappear; Cooking; Helping to serve; Operating the cash register

We love our Canteen Crew!

One other thing that would be extremely helpful in smooth running of the canteen is placing orders via Flexischools. Even though the cut off for Flexischools orders is 8:45am of the day that the lunch is required, we encourage you to place your orders by the previous night. This is particularly important for Friday orders.

We thank you for your continued support of the OAGS Canteen!
